

ISO 9001

ISO 14001

OHSAS 18001

Zero Landfill Policy

Our clients want to know that their assets will be disposed of in an environmentally safe manner. We welcome all of our clients and prospective clients to inspect and audit our system of waste disposal.

- We attempt to save each item possible for resale and/or reuse. It's not only more profitable for Com2 Recycling Solutions, LLC and our client; it is the most environmentally economical way to recycle. The energy needed to prepare electronic products for reuse is only 1/3 of what is needed to recycle for the raw materials.
- Any equipment that cannot be recovered for resale will be sent to our downstream Basel Action Network (Ban) certified recycling partners, who are readily available to take everything we deem as e-scrap. They will further dismantle, sort and separate to recover all the raw materials to be reused for manufacturing into a new product. This guarantees 100% zero landfill policy for our client's e-scrap received. Our Company is an ISO 9001, 14001, and 18001 certified and maintains a highly professional facility. Com2 Recycling Solutions, LLC does not export any electronic waste for scrap recycling outside the United States.
- Regulatory Compliance - At Com2, LLC we have the understanding of government regulations to ensure that all our clients' assets are handled with 100% legal compliance.
- Client Indemnification - To further protect our clients, Com2, LLC assumes environmental responsibility for each package of customer products that we receive by giving the customer a product liability transfer document with each set of final paperwork. We take all the liability away from our clients. At Com2, LLC we go the extra mile for the environment because we believe in it. We do more than just dispose of our inventory and scrap electronics safely; we have an internal recycling program for our used office materials and waste as well.